

Young people in California more likely to support expansive state government

April 1, 2021 | BIFYA

We analyzed data from the latest statewide survey from the Public Policy Institute for California (PPIC). In a question that asked whether you'd "rather pay higher taxes and have a state government that provides more services, or rather pay lower taxes and have a state government that provides fewer services" we found that young people were more likely to want to pay higher taxes for more services. correlated with higher turnout among the 65+ population in 2018, by 2020 disapproval of President Trump was correlated with about a 4 percentage point increase in voter turnout among the 65+ population.

Source: BIFYA analysis using data from the Public Policy Institute of California Statewide Survey March 2021.

Note: Question asked, "Which of the following statements do you agree with more; (1) rather pay higher taxes and have a state government that provides more services, or (2) rather pay lower taxes and have a state government that provides fewer services." N=1,706.